

How to Choose the Right Certification Body

Dr. Sundar Kataria

LOOKING FOR AN ISO-RELIABLE & BEST CERTIFICATION BODY (CMD)

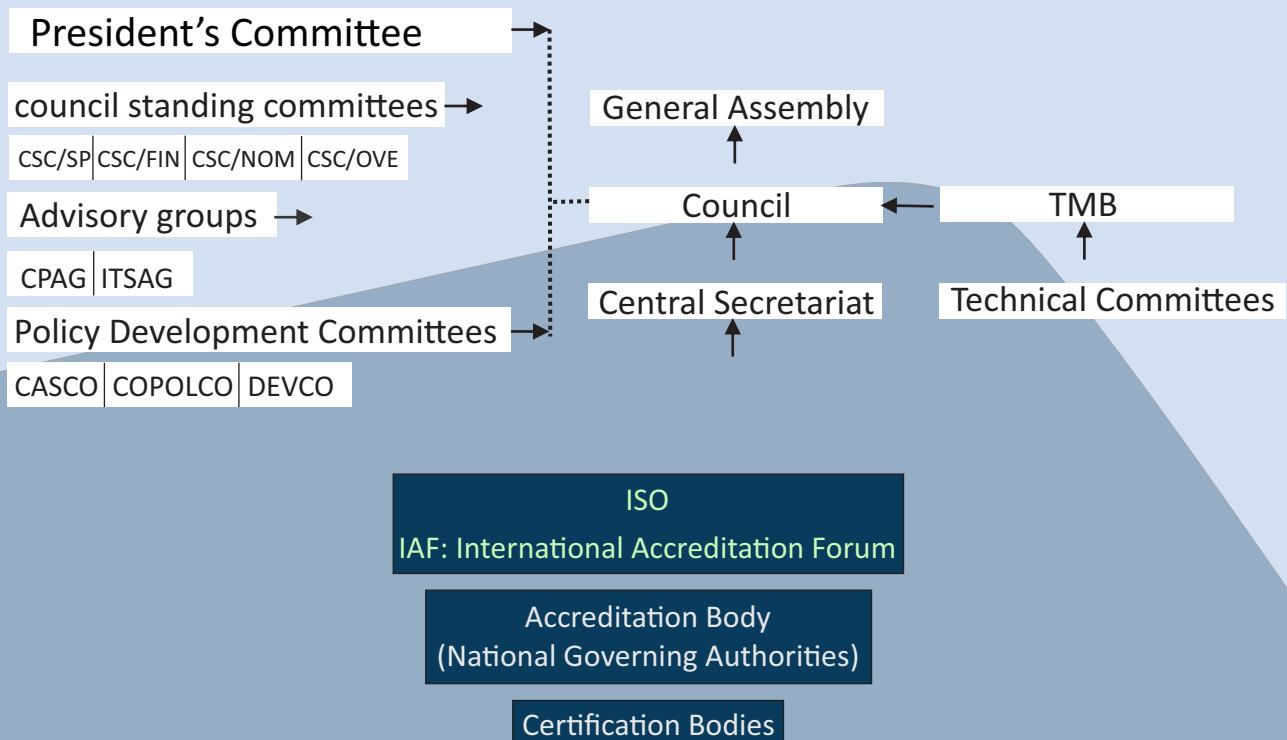

ISO journey started after the Second World War in the year 1946 when delegates from 25 countries gathered in London to discuss the future of standardization. ISO was established on 23rd Feb 1947 to have International harmonized standards as key to the world's reconstruction era to build a new world. ISO celebrated seven decade of the services to the international world.

Simultaneously National Standardization activity started after the independence, year 1947 with establishment of ISI: Indian Standards Institution to prepare and promote the adoption of national standards for products and services.

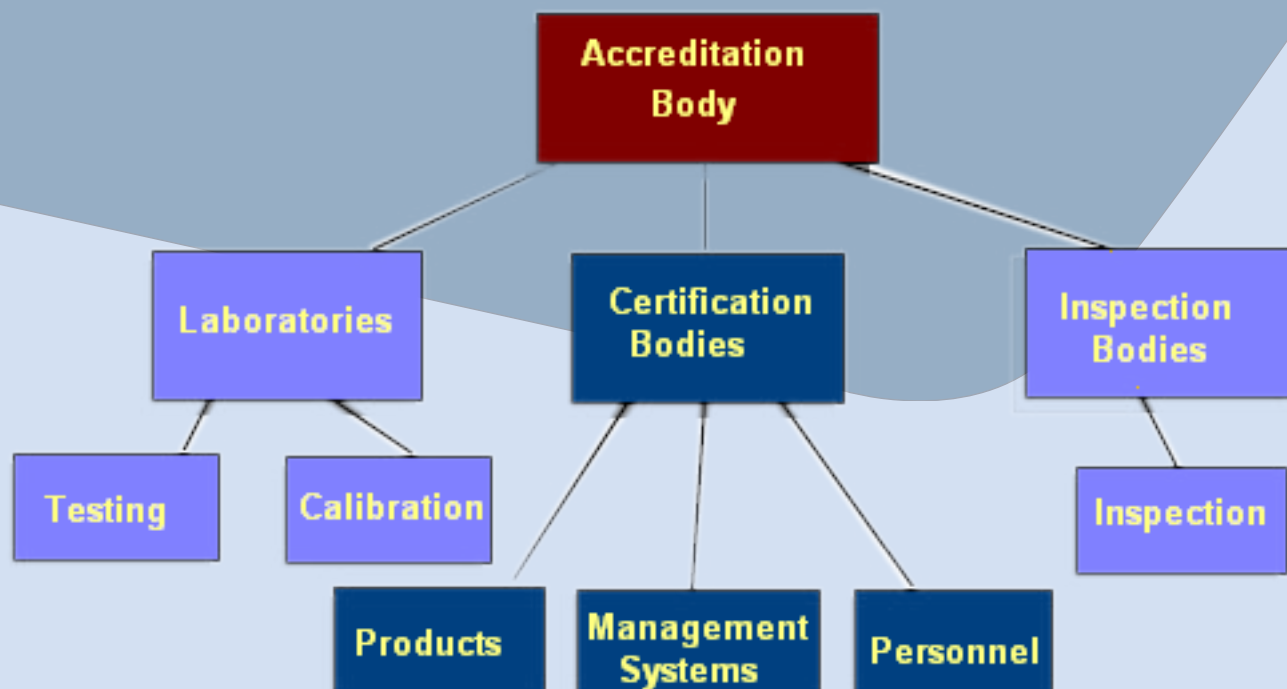

ISO international standards are adopted and recognized by more than 200 member countries world-wide. ISO is a network of the national standards bodies (NSBs) popularly known as accreditation bodies with one member per country. Among other activities, ISO's central secretariat located in Geneva, Switzerland, coordinates the organization and development of international standards on various field of manufacturers and service sector industries. They are not only developing various management system international standards but the products standards those are harmonized and based on international and national standards with sound engineering, quality, safety and environmental practices.

ISO organization also helps raise public awareness of international standards and standardization. They also work with other international and national organizations such as IEC and ITU to celebrate annual WORLD STANDARDS DAY. ISO also engages the wider public through their consumer committee on standards development (COPOLCO)

ISO Governance structure

Role of Accreditation Bodies: Accreditation bodies are established in many economies with the primary purpose of ensuring that “conformity assessment bodies” are subject to oversight by authoritative body. Accreditation bodies that have been peer evaluated as competent sign regional and international arrangement to demonstrate their competence.

QUALITY, QUALITY, QUALITY

There are many certification bodies, operating in India today, considering India’s growth & development and world’s largest manufacturing hub.

Quality of the certificates being issued by the CB’s very much differs in the Quality of their certification services. We can divide into the following four main categories

- a) CB, National Accreditation certificates
- b) CB, International Accreditation Certificate (with their branch office in India)
- c) Sub-contractors, CBs Licenses
- d) Consultants

Unfortunately many of the CB’s have been operating in India are from categories C & D i.e. Sub-contractors and consultants. The quality of the ISO certificates issued by these categories is big question mark, as there is poor monitoring and control on these categories of CB’s

Otherwise quality of the certification services by categories A & B are very good with compliance to the ISO requirements, independent, value added internal benchmark.

The organization selecting right CB’s is very vital and important receiving the value for money and quality ISO – International certificate. Another area of concern the L1 during tendering can adversely affect the quality.

Celebration of 77 th Independence Day, 15 th Aug, 2023 at Saanidhaanam

Saanidhaanam celebrated India's 77th Independence day on 15th August at Masvan Palghar along with Masvan Government High School, Sannidhaanam Team and Suryaansh Team; the chief guest on this auspicious occasion Mr. Sachin and Guest of honour was the Principal. The event was attended more than 300 personnel and students from nearby village and Saanidhaanam disabled students including senior citizens.

We in India got Independence at midnight of 14-15 Aug 1947, It will be 76th Independence day of India: important National day since it reminds every Indian about dawn of a new beginning, the beginning of an era of deliverance from the clutches of British Colonization of more than 200 years. India gaining of Independence was a trust with destiny; as struggle for freedom was long and tiresome one, witnessing the sacrifices of many freedom fighters, who laid their lives on the line.

India is one of the oldest civilizations in the world with a kaleidoscopic variety and rich culture heritage. It has achieved all round socio-economic progress since independence. As the 7th largest country in the world, India stand apart from the rest of Asia, marked off as it is by mountains and the sea, which give the country distinct geographical entity. The great Himalayans in the north; Indian Ocean in the south, Bay of Bengal in the east and Arabian Sea on the west.

India became free from British Raj on the historic date of 15 Aug 1947. It was the culmination of numerous national movements and struggles that was rife throughout the times of British rule including historic revolt of 1857. The independence was achieved through the efforts of many revolutionary Indian freedom fighters; such as Subash Chandra Bose, Chandrashekar Azad, Rani Lakshmbai of Jhansi, Sardar Valabbhai Patel and Mahatma Gandhi including Vir Savarkar and many others like Bal Gangadhar Tilak, Annie Beasant. Sarojini Naidu, Savitri Bai Phule etc.

Dr. Kataria thanked the Chief Guest, Head Master & Teachers, Students And Saanidhaanam Team including Suryaansh Team to join the celebration in such large gathering.

Choosing the ISO Certification Body: Why, and How? & Why ICS (Regional Manager (North))

Business owners and Organizations, when they decide to implement the Management System according to the International Standards such that ISO 9001, ISO 14001, ISO 45001, ISO 27001, ISO 22000 or ISO 13485, etc., the first thing they confused about is to confirming the Implemented Management System as per the International Standards, who is going to verify their system according to the ISO Management System? To whom they are going to approach?

Organizations who implement the System have to approach the right Third-Party to verify their system against the ISO guidelines and requirements. The organizations have to choose the Best and Credible ISO Certification Body that is accredited as per the IAF guidelines and Policies.

Why Choose an ISO Certification Body?

The ISO Certification Body is an accredited assurance and certification organization that works as per the guidelines and requirements in accordance with ISO 17021-1:2015 Conformity assessment — Requirements for bodies providing audit and certification of management systems. So, it is essential to get approval from the accredited ISO Certification Body to ensure the Proper management System.

Even the organizations can Self-Certify that their system in accordance with ISO Standards requirements, but when it comes to the credibility of the system, that has to certify by third-party organizations. ISO Certification Bodies are independent third parties, provides the conformity assessment, and issues the Certificates as per the ISO requirements; this gives more credibility to your management system and ISO Certification.

Selection of ISO Certification Body

There are hundreds of ISO Certification bodies are there around you, but how are you going to choose the best one? How do you make decisions on the selection of ISO Certification Body? The answer is simple, just consider the above-mentioned factor and verify against them.

1. Accreditation:

The First thing to consider in the selection of ISO Certification Body is Accreditation. There are lots of third-party organizations, they say that they will assess your system and give the Certificate.

Are these Certifying organizations accredited (licensed) to do so? No, most of them are not accredited by Local Governing Bodies i.e. accreditation bodies. Even, the Accreditation Bodies also have credible authenticity to provide the accreditations to Certification Bodies.

In Order to verify the accreditation of any ISO Certification Body, one should verify the Accreditation Details and credibility of the accreditation body (AB) that recognized by the International Accreditation Forum [IAF]. The List of County-wise IAF accreditation Bodies can be verified.

Some well-known Accreditation Bodies; NABCB, JAS-ANZ, UKAS, IAS, EGAC, EIAC, DAKKS, etc.

2.Reputation:

When it comes to the authenticity and Credibility of your ISO Certificate, clearly one has to consider the reputation of the Certifying Body. If you are using your ISO Certification for marketing purposes, this should be recognized by an accredited Certification Body.

Non-accredited ISO Certificates are cause damage to your organization's reputation in the market. The non-accredited Certification bodies issue the Certificates without any audits or review of the management system, which causes complexity in the credibility of your ISO Certificate and you may lose the customers. Only IAF -MLA accreditation bodies are audited and therefore deserve the highest level of confidence.

3.Scope:

The ISO Certificate issuing organization has to have the scope of accreditation in order to issue the Certificate for a particular standard or to a particular industry. Not all the Certification Body has the scopes to issues the certificates for all industries (nature of business) and ISO Standards. You should verify the scope of accreditation of the Certification body in the accreditation letter.

International Certification Services Pvt. Ltd. (ICS) is meeting all above requirements and holds that reputation while certifying more than 12000 Valued customers as on date. ## ISO Certification - A Holistic Approach to Business Management

ISO certification offers a holistic approach to business management by providing a structured framework that encompasses quality, efficiency, risk management, innovation, and responsibility. It guides organizations in establishing standardized processes that ensure consistent product or service quality, leading to enhanced customer satisfaction and loyalty. This approach optimizes operations, reduces waste, and drives cost savings. ISO-certified businesses proactively assess and manage risks, aiding in better decision-making and minimizing operational disruptions. Moreover, certification reflects a commitment to environmental and social responsibilities, boosting brand reputation and fostering sustainable practices.

1. Quality Management and Customer Satisfaction:

ISO standards for management system certification, focuses on customer satisfaction through consistent product or service quality. In today's competitive market, customers demand reliable and high-quality offerings. ISO provides a framework for businesses to establish processes that ensure quality control, leading to enhanced customer satisfaction and loyalty.

2. Global Market Access:

ISO standards are recognized worldwide and are often prerequisites for entering certain markets. Having ISO certification can ease international trade by demonstrating compliance with global standards, allowing businesses to expand their reach and tap into new markets more effectively.

3. Process Efficiency and Cost Savings:

ISO standards emphasize the optimization of processes to improve efficiency and reduce waste. By implementing standardized procedures, businesses can identify bottlenecks, streamline operations, and minimize unnecessary costs. This not only enhances profitability but also contributes to sustainable business practices.

4. Risk Management and Decision Making:

ISO standards incorporate risk assessment and management as integral components. ISO-certified businesses are better equipped to identify potential risks, assess their impact, and implement strategies to mitigate them. This proactive approach leads to better decision-making and a reduced likelihood of operational disruptions.

5. Supplier and Partner Relationships:

ISO certification can facilitate stronger relationships with suppliers and partners. Many companies prefer to collaborate with ISO-certified partners due to the assurance of consistent quality, streamlined processes, and reduced risks. This can lead to smoother collaborations and improved supply chain management.

6. Employee Engagement and Empowerment:

ISO standards often involve employees in the development and improvement of processes. This engagement fosters a sense of ownership and empowerment among employees, leading to increased job satisfaction, better teamwork, and a culture of continuous improvement.

7. Innovation and Adaptability:

ISO certifications encourage organizations to embrace innovation and remain adaptable to changing market conditions. Regular reviews and updates of processes allow businesses to incorporate new technologies, strategies, and best practices, helping them stay competitive in dynamic industries.

8. Regulatory Compliance and Legal Protection:

Adhering to ISO standards can aid businesses in complying with industry regulations and legal requirements. By aligning their practices with internationally recognized standards, companies can minimize the risk of legal disputes and penalties.

9. Brand Reputation and Marketing Advantage:

ISO certification can enhance a company's reputation by showcasing its commitment to quality, safety, and environmental responsibility. This positive image can be leveraged in marketing efforts, attracting customers who prioritize businesses with a strong ethical and quality-oriented stance.

10. Environmental and Social Responsibility:

ISO standards like ISO 14001 and ISO 26000 address environmental and social responsibilities, respectively. These certifications demonstrate a business's commitment to sustainable practices, fostering positive relationships with environmentally conscious consumers and stakeholders.

In essence, ISO certification offers a holistic approach to business management, encompassing quality, efficiency, risk mitigation, innovation, and responsibility. While pursuing certification requires time and effort, the benefits in terms of operational excellence, market access, and stakeholder trust make it a valuable investment for modern businesses.
